

I use the instant traffic and weather all the time. I have been in a traffic jam, unable to see the blockage ahead and trying to decide if I should get off the freeway and find an alternate route, and turned on the instant traffic report. I found out that the blockage was just up ahead, and traffic was clear after that point, so I decided to just wait it out. This happened at a time of day that there are not traffic reports given on local radio stations. And local radio stations do not give frequent or detailed enough reports to give me the information I need in the timely manner I desire. Please don't take away my ability to have instant local traffic and weather reports! When my husband gets a new car, we are planning to get Satelillite radio for him for this very feature.
